Dear Rachel:

As you may have heard, both the number and quality of the applicants for The 2011 Collaboration Prize were exceptional, and determining the winner was a difficult and demanding process. However, even in the generally outstanding pool of applications, we believe that the best of the collaborations deserve special recognition. Accordingly, I am pleased to inform you that CANnect has been chosen, from the 807 applications we received, to be recognized as one of 95 quarterfinalists in the competition.

Enclosed is a Certificate of National Recognition awarded to CANnect, signed by Sterling Speirn, CEO of the WK Kellogg Foundation and chair of the Final Selection Panel for The 2011 Collaboration Prize. Congratulations to you and to the initiators and leaders of the collaboration for this achievement of which all of you should be very proud.

Warmest regards,

Lois Savage
